Then disappear mysteriously just the way you came Run away, immediately, with the magic we lost that you save
That you saved
Capable of harm the stranger comes in/ You with open arms invite First forget, then remembering/ Something snaps in time
With his eyes he tells all that he knows and then he lies down to sleep in the road
In the road
Tonight the walls have no secrets/ Tonight they talk They'll never be mine, these memories you cling to As soon as I grab them, they're gone
And with his eyes, he says everything/ To an audience of one
