Here comes another wasted day at the end you say
still don't know what the hell it means.

I watch what's on TV - it's like real life to me.
All I'm left with are these broken dreams...

Wake Up
Right now Come on

You've gotta throw back the covers and jump out of bed
get on your feet slap yourself round the head
there's something inside you that no dream can beat life's happening now and there's no time to sleep ...

Daydreaming, you're daydreaming,
you dream of the day when the world's gonna change.
Daydreaming, you're daydreaming,
you're dreaming your life away.

Although the headlines scream at you, you don't have a clue
what's really going on between the lines.

One percent's the truth clean and in full view
99 percent is dirty lies.

Got to throw back the covers and run through the streets
out in the noise and the crowd and the heat.
Wake up the neighbours, wake up your friends!
They could do some good with the time that they spend.

Daydreaming, they're daydreaming,
they dream of the day when the world's gonna change.
Daydreaming, they're daydreaming,
they're dreaming their lifes away.

We throw back the covers and jump out of the bed,

wake up the neighbours and wake up our friends.
Between us we've something that no dream can beat.
Life's happening now and there's no time to sleep...

Daydreaming, you're daydreaming,
you dream of the day when the world's gonna change.
Daydreaming, you're daydreaming,
they're dreaming their lifes away.

Daydreaming, we're daydreaming,
we dream of the day when the world's gonna change.
Daydreaming, they're daydreaming,
they're dreaming their lifes
they're dreaming their lifes
they're dreaming their lifes away.
