People say I care too much

I'm so emotional

A tender soul who's out of control

I've been told a heart like mine

Is truly valuable

Worth even more than diamonds and gold

I'm overloaded with love

I've been saving up

For someone else who can't get enough

I must have a ten pound heart

Chorus:

A ton of devotion and gallons of tears

An old flame still burning

From my nineteenth year

Exploding with passion

And raging romance

Urging me consistently to take one more chance

Let this love inside of me start

Flowing from my ten pound heart

I need someone adventurous

This is serious

Timid hearted need not apply

Faithful and available

With some experience

In handling a heavy device

So now if I've described you

And you someone who

Can share your dreams and make them come true

Look inside my ten pound heart

Repeat Chorus Twice

Please won't you help this love inside me start

Flowing from my ten pound heart
