"Hang On And Go"

Hang on to the rope and never let go you will pull through somehow I know Moving mountains into new places moving mountains into uncharted territory Mellow the masses Changing directions changing the winds the ones that drift towards you Taking back the old and bringing in the new Suspensions are causing me to make a mind of my own
One that causes me to think where is home

The days will go by faster if I don't count

Hang on to the rope and never let go you will pull
through somehow I know
Taking a chance a risk is something that I just cant miss Won't miss a chance upon to start a tremor that climbs up and down your spine
It makes you shiver and quiver
