(Willcox / Bogen / Spalding)

In every waking hour I miss you
In my dreams I never kiss you
And in the shadows creatures want to hurt you
But in love and war I'll never desert you

And I breathe white fire in anger
I breathe white fire in anger

In every waking hour I miss you
In my dreams I never kiss you

And somewhere on another star
A man holds his brother
Looking at the faded scars of their land
And he wonders if another planet has survived man

And I breathe white fire in anger
I breathe white fire in anger

In every waking hour I miss you
In my dreams I never kiss you
And in the shadows creatures want to hurt you
In love and war I'll never desert you

I'll never desert you
I'll never desert you

And somewhere on another star
A man holds his brother
And he loved him, he loved him
Like he loved no other.
