All in all we're fading

Like a soul lost in the wilderness

We're cold and we're cut off from it

Not knowing where it's gonna end

There's a star in Bethlehem, it's calling you

It's a memory of One who made it

Be, be yourself

There's no one who does it quite like you

Be, no one else

Cause if you don't then who is going to

You're a tribute to the best of us

We follow everybody else

Not knowing what we're made for

The mecca of the insecure

The sing and mark of the popular

There's a new face on the television

It's a new host with the same derision

Be, be yourself

Don't let the losers tell you what to do

Be, no one else Cause if you don't then who is going to

And the time is now

No reason to look back
Just like an infant born
You've got to catch your breath
And I'm learning Father
Yes, and I'm going farther
Be, be yourself
There's no one who does it quite like you
Be, no one else
Cause if you don't then who is going to be
Light the path you're supposed to see
Just like the salt that filters through the need
Like a star that's falling from the sky
Just like the apple of your daddy's eye
