Holding my head together
It's hard to breathe!
I feel my insides crawling
The signs are on my face

Unable to function, and it eats me alive Getting through a day like this is a challenge I don't want to face

I was born to take on more than I can handle
I was born to take on more than I can handle

I'm beaten by the things I enjoy
They leave my whole body abused
The price of my ignorance paid
to end up at this same point again
Tired and beaten, repeating the mistakes i made Bury me deep in my state of mind so I can finally learn

I was born to take on more than I can handle
I was born to take on more than I can handle
More than I can handle
More than I can handle
I was born to take on more than I can handle

I'm beaten by the things I enjoy
They leave my whole body abused
The price of my ignorance paid
to end up at this same point again
