Our never-ending conflict has lost its appeal
The fight is wearing me down Your principles and rules are meaningless to me
Set me loose on the world

Your doubts and fears will keep me bound to your chains
The ones I have been trying to break

Your way is not for me!
I want to go somewhere you'd never lead me Whatever i may become should be good enough for you

You don't have to watch over me
My mind is already set In the end I will make you proud, just wait and see

Your doubts and fears will keep me bound to your chains of oppression

The ones I have been trying to break

What do I have to do to make you approve of the things that I hold high?

Break the bars surrounding your world and allow yourself to see what I see Give me the space to breath
Your lectures leave me suffocated

You have to find your peace of mind without my presence and aid I'll make my choices by myself
I know which ones are right for me Right for me!

Your way is not for me! Your way is not for me!
Your way is not for me!
