When Roy was a young man
His friends used to tell all about
The girls they ran with
And he'd just shake his head
And they'd get to laughin'
And askin' well Roy
Just how many girls you lovin' on these days
And he'd turn three shades of red
But if you ask him now he'll tell ya
Boy this old man's been around
And I ain't one to brag
But you'd be hard pressed
To find too many other men
Around this here town
That's loved the way I have

Just one woman
One amazing, worth the waiting
Angel from above
Just one woman
Is all I've ever loved

Well I asked him once,
Roy, don't you think by now
She'd have wanted you to move on
He said no, not yet
Cause once a man's stared into the eyes
Of the most beautiful woman God ever made
Well that's something an old man don't forget
But boy don't you worry bout me none
My time here's nearly done
And I know when I'm gone
These old bones are gonna fly
And I'll be reachin' for the sky
And I'll be holdin' on

Just one woman
One amazing, worth the waiting
Angel from above
Just one woman
Is all I've ever loved

Just one woman
One amazing, worth the waiting
Angel from above
Just one woman
It's all I've ever loved
She's all I ever loved
