

Mccutcheon John

"Happy Birthday To You"

Visit "Happy Birthday To You" on MotoLyrics.com

Happy Birthday to You

We're going to let second grade out early today

Which made little Mikey kind of blue

You see he just turned seven years old that day

And he thought he'd get a party at school

He walked to his house and he's taken of his guard

There's tables and chairs all over they yard

And his friends jumped up and they hollered real hard

Happy birthday to you

It makes me think of the good old days

Happy birthday to you

You sure grew out of your baby ways

Happy birthday to you

Seventh birthday, we wish you many more

Health and wealth and friends by the score

Cut the cake and lets eat some more

Happy birthday to you

Mike's twenty-two now and he's working for his pop

And his heads full of business through and through

They're puttin' in a whole new system at the shop

And forgot he had a birthday due

CHORUS

Twenty-third birthday . . .

Now it's old man Michael in a rocking chair

Admiring the view

He's still got all his teeth and he's still got all his hair

And today he's ninety-two

He turns in he seat and he's taken off guard

There's chairs and tables all over the yard

And his friends jumped up and they hollered real hard

Happy birthday to you

CHORUS

Ninety-second birthday . . .

It's your birthday, we wish you many more

Health and wealth and friends by the score

Tune up the fiddle and lets dance some more

Happy birthday to you

By Leon Russelson

@age

filename[BIRTHHAP

DC

===DOCUMENT BOUNDARY

Visit Mccutcheon John page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.