There's a little house
I drive by everyday goin' in town
And it just kills me to see
How he's let it runnin' down?
When I built it to hear you tell it
I'd built you a mansion on a hill
And even now that's where part of me still lives

Wish I could hold you
And know you, still want me
To be the only one on earth, you need
Just to make your dreams come true
Like I once did
I'd give anything to be your everything again

I know, I've said, "I wouldn't call you"
I know the trouble it could bring
But I'm sure by now you've told him
I don't mean anything
I'll let you go, but I want you to know
Before this conversation ends
I'd give anything to be your everything again

Wish I could hold you
And know you, still want me
To be the only one on earth, you need
Just to make your dreams come true
Like I once did
I'd give anything to be your everything again
Oh oh girl, I'd give anything to be your everything again
