I will only break your heart
Better days
Have come and gone away

Please hear me now
To never wait
For what we've lost will not be found

And time uncovers
That it is me pulling you under
So I will let this go

I will only break your heart (break your heart)
I will only let you down (let you down)
I've been tearing up my world, Dear (oh)
I will burn it to the ground (burn to the ground)

I will only break your heart
What remains
Is that I love you more

Than I know how
What it takes
I never had to give

And time uncovers
That it was me pulling you under
So I will let this go

I will only break your heart (break your heart)
I will only let you down (let you down)
I've been tearing up my world, Dear (oh)
I will burn it to the ground (burn to the ground)

And in the end
White bleeds to red
You grab your coat and go

What's left is done
What's said is gone
And you will never know

I will only break your heart (and in the end)
I will only let you down (white bleeds to red)
I've been tearing up world here (you grab your coat)
I will burn it to the ground (and go)

I will only break your heart (what's left is done)
I will only let you down (what's said is gone)
See these walls are caving in, Love (and you will)
You've got to find your own way out (never know)

And in the end
White bleeds to red
