I See God In You by Lara Landon(Lara Landon/Mitch Dane/Ty Smith)

There's something different in your eyes something honest in the way you speak every time you come around me one look at you and I feel at peace the angels can't be very far I love what I see in your heart

I see God in you
I know that's not something you go around saying but I do believe it's true
I see God in you
I want to say
I finally found my strength in the light that shines in you That's what I see
I see God in you

Did you know that you're the person who's shown me who it is I want to be?
Every time I feel I'm falling
I can count on you to stand by me I've never known someone like you before how can I say how beautiful you are?

I see God in you
I know that's not something you go around saying
but I do believe it's true
I see God in you
I want to say
I finally found my strength in the light that shines in you
That's what I see
I see God in you

God must have known just what I needed someone to show me His true love I know better now who He really is I've seen a glimpse in you

I see God in you
I know that's not something you go around saying
but I do believe it's true
I see God in you
I want to say
I finally found my strength
in the light that shines in you
That's what I see
I see God in you
