Now there's a table for two in the back of the room.
It's always free 'cause it's non-smoking.
We're do there nothing but drink and when the drinks
are on me.
That was the first time you were smiling...

... Like you may want me in an expensive kinda way but it's still someting.
After the small talk I only wait for the situation that will lead us to our first kiss...

I don't thinks there's anything wrong.
We both came here alone.
Someone would drag you home anyway.
Was the silence too long?
I'd say enough with the talk.
It's time for me to do something...

... To keep you smiling or else you'll leave me in the middle of the evening.
It's already hard enough to make you stay here.
So I keep in the things that you may find offensive...

You went to order some more.
I'm out of money you know.
I didn't plan my night like this.
Have I just lost my chance?
I don't think you're coming back.
That was the last time you were smiling...

... Like you may want me in an expensive kinda way but it's still something.
I leave the table and get my jacket.
Though it's not even near of closing time I'm walking.

'Cause you're gone.
