Get up, get out, and get over it
Stand up, stay strong, and move on again
No explanation for this bad situation
So get up, get out, and get over it
Stand up, stay strong, and move on again
I'm feeling tired but I cant sleep I'm wired

You may say I dont want it but I still want this
Its creeping from your stomach to your head
You can say I dont want it but I still want this
There's no one who can save you now

Get up, get out, and get over it
This sort of thing will never end
Constant frustration cause by your manipulation
Get up, get out, and get over it
This sort of thing will never end
Dont feel so useless in a world that is so ruthless

You may say I dont want it but I still want this
Its creeping from your stomach to your head
You can say I dont want it but I still want this
There's no one who can save you now

So try to find your own solution
It wont take a revolution
Say it once and say it loud
There's no one who can save you now
