Winter! The hatred rises in the cold
The way it sharpens all my senses will enable me to fill the void
All your countless and weak attempts denied
You run with new-fed terror
Pale as you kiss damnation
Pale because of your failure

Hurt where it hurts the most Bleak as the courage falls
Hit by the winter sadness
An orphan of your own madness

I will attack when you least expect it and make you stare in awe with blood-shut eyes at the perishing sun

Too many lies
Too many failures
In midst of yourself
you struggle in vain

Shivers! The way you shiver as you crawl
To see you tremble as your panic grows is a reward in it's purest form Fearful you watch the end as it reflects in the mirror
As you turn blue I vanish in a joyful trance

Winter! The hatred rises in the cold
The way it sharpens all my senses
have enabled me to fill the void
All your countless and weak attempts denied
you ran with new-fed terror Pale as you kissed damnation
Pale because of your failure

Too many lies
Too many failures
In midst of yourself

you struggle in vain

Carrier of the Scars of Life.

(Music: F.R. Hagen, Heiseldal, lyrics: Thorsen, Nordhus)

Take me away
into illusion
Take me away
from the rain

Wounded but not yet fallen Still caving in The marks from the dance with the devil still healing

Shallow but not yet empty
The marks from a life lived in vain still sore

Take me away
Take me to places where hope is not merely an illusion Take me to levels where strength rises high Take me to levels where there are no lies Take me to places where life is for real Where destiny's challenge has yet to be sealed Still I awake to the sound of damnation Torn from my sleep as it calls out my name

Take me away
Take me away
from the pain

I fall!
The fact that the curtain of life is ready to fall

I drown!
The empty white canvas is suddenly painted in red
