Hiding in the bottle
away from the fears of life
Watch you fall as you take a dive
and sinking to the bottom of the glass
Watch you fall as you're crawling helplessly
in the corner of despair
Watch you fall into the bottomless pit
to escape from the past
and your fears within

I release my anger
to the ones I cannot see My disease attracts me to what is wrong for me

Hiding in the bottle
You always try to drown the guilt Watch you fall as your life gives in you're strangled by the lack of redemption Watch you fall as the poison spreads within and the cold hand prepares for the end Watch you fall into the savage domain
'cause you couldn't face life as it was meant to be

Turning away into sadness
Taken away into madness

I release my fury
to the ones I cannot see
As my consciousness tells me what is wrong with me
See me fall

Hiding in the bottle

The Architect of my Downfall.
(Music: F.R. Hagen, lyrics: Thorsen)

High on destruction
She enters the room and watches with merciless eyes and strikes me with sheer desperation I empty my glass filled with flames and she takes me away Drags me towards mirrors so cold
I dive to the depths of convulsion Tearful I stand as she smiles at the sight of the rivers that run down my wrists

I stare towards the endless depths
of my own self
Of my downfall

Cursed be your name!
Cursed be your madness!
Deceiver and murderer of hope In venomous intoxication I felt the punishing strength of the rope as you strangled my faith Shred it to pieces
and left me to bury my pride Shameful I hide
You left me to drown in senseless oblivion

I stare towards the endless depths

As the curtain falls
I fall down with it
To the endless depths

Drown me
in the flood from my wrists
