VERSE

I was sitting by myself alone and you know that in my room I don't have a phone
There was a knock on my door, but I'm not sure.

it was her, the girl who treasures me.
She said: I love you, do you love me?
I can't recall if I answered at all

She sat down on my bed: treacherous ground
Her face turned red and and didn't make a sound
She looked at me like a dog that wanted food

I thought to myself "I don't have a bone"
"But neither of us should have to feel so alone"
I was careful not to say anything rude

CHORUS

I didn't know if to kiss her or if I preferred to miss her
"This is just like some movie from before", she said and she was on a love's train

But I was in an aeroplane
All we could do was to wave to one another

VERSE

Silence is a voice of an equal choice
Girls sometimes wish that they were boys
And men they blush when the blood rushes too late

Echo is the voice of bouncing back
A gecko is a lizard and a rat is a rat
A no is a no is a no, I don't like that

Wanting is a need which wants to defeat
Rejecting which is greed of another need
She looked at me with original sinful eyes

And though the love of spring was in the air
My heart for her refused to care

A lock was there and she couldn't lock it up

And though for some that night was blessed
The knife of love cut through her chest
For her it was another failure stored in her soul

And love is blind and sometimes a fool
It can be oh, so kind, and just as cruel
All I could do was to try to play my role

Save my soul, save my soul
Save my soul, save my soul
You gotta save my soul

Come on and save my soul
Save my soul, save my soul
I got to save my soul
