Well I'm always broke and that's the truth
So what's a poor boy supposed to do
When he wants to show the one he loves how much he cares
Well all day long she's been on my mind
So I stopped at the lot with the blue and white sign
I knew just what to get when I pulled in there
Well pleasing my baby don't cost a lot
So I'm gonna spend the last little bit I got on

Chorus

Some Wal-Mart flowers and a mason jar
A funny lovey-dovey 99 cent card
A Diet Coke and a candy bar
Yeah, I know what she likes
It don't matter that I got 'em at a deep discount
She don't care it's the thought that counts
Never ever underestimate the power
Of some homegrown lovin' and some Wal-Mart flowers

A little two tap knock on her front door
She wasn't expecting me I'm sure
By the way her pretty little smile lit up her face
She said what you got there behind your back
You must be up to something with a grin like that
When I whipped out my bargain bin bouquet
She 'bout knocked me down with a big ol' hug
Gave me so much lovin' all because of

Repeat Chorus

She's everything in my whole wide world
My baby ain't no material girl
She says all she really needs is
A little ol' me

I got some Wal-Mart flowers and a mason jar
A funny lovey-dovey 99 cent card
A Diet Coke and a candy bar
Yeah, I know what she likes
It don't matter that I got them at a deep discount

She don't care it's the thought that counts
Never ever underestimate the power
Of some home grown lovin' and some Wal-Mart flowers
In a mason jar
Oh oh oh oh oh...
