An angel came down
One night to the Earth
A mission from God
To find out the worth
Of everything that
His children had done
Since that winter night
The birth of his son

And then a sound filled the night
In the cold winter air
And in the midst of his flight
It was holding him there
And as he looked towards the Earth
For the source of this sound
On that cold winter night
It was pulling him down

To bring something back
This angel was told
That no one could touch
But angels could hold
So on that night
When the sky had cleared
Among all the stars
An angel appeared

And then a sound filled the night
In the cold winter air
And in the midst of his flight
It was holding him there
And as he looked towards the Earth
For the source of this sound
On that cold winter night
It was pulling him down

And then a sound filled the night
In the cold winter air
And in the midst of his flight
It was holding him there
And as he looked towards the Earth
For the source of this sound

On that cold winter night
It was pulling him down
