Christmas time in the middle of a city
Seeking its salvation
With every string of lights
That suddenly appears

Children stare with new found wonder
No one dares to break the trance
Every wish is carefully numbered
And God has granted all a second chance
This day

And all at once
The dream's begun
And as we mark the old year's passing
Strangers greet
On every street
And suddenly there's goodwill everywhere
There's Christmas in the air

On this night
To this light
We see it all again
On this night
To this light
We see it all again

On this night
To this light
We see it all again
On this night
To this light
We see it all again
All again

On this winter night
We still wait for you

And now the time has come
When all the world is one
And as we mark the old year's passing
Strangers greet
On every street

And suddenly there's goodwill everywhere

There's Christmas in the air

There comes a time when we're on our own

Some times in life such a thing must be

But such a thing should not be known

This night

This night

This night

And now the time has come

And now the time has come

And now the time has come

And now the time has come

And now the time has come

And all the world is one

And as we mark the old year's passing

Strangers greet

On every street

And suddenly there's goodwill everywhere

There's Christmas in the air

THE FINAL LETTER THAT SHE READ

WAS FROM A YOUNGER MAN

IT CAME WITH A JOURNAL

THAT WAS ALL WRITTEN BY HAND

HE HAD DONE SOMETHING SO WRONG IN LIFE

THAT HE NO LONGER WISHED TO LIVE

BUT ON THIS NIGHT HE HAD A DREAM

AND FOUND THAT GOD FORGIVES

IF WE TRULY REGRET HOW OTHERS WE HAVE HUNT

HE WILL UNDERSTAND

SO HE TOOK THE MESSAGE FROM THIS NIGHT

AND BECAME A DIFFERENT MAN
