I've got plans for tonight
We could lose ourselves in headlights
Let the world know we're alive
Our shadows turn to ghosts before our eyes

Drop what I believe for one night
Give them who I am
Windows down, we're begging for a chance
(begging for a chance)

You've been planning trips on empty maps this time
When you swear you'll keep your feet on the ground
And we're wondering where we are tonight
We're miles from home, I guess we made it

And I hope you know, we're never gonna say it again
Before you turn this down, before you let me down
So stay right here, you're what I miss the most
To pass this space between two states and a telephone

The world came crashing down on us
The morning comes were all that's left
And listen when I tell you, I know you best

Get get up and go, we lose ourselves out on the road
We won't go down together, we won't go down together

You've been planning trips on empty maps this time
When you swear you'll keep your feet on the ground
And we're wondering where we are tonight
We're miles from home, I guess we made it

And I hope you know, we're never gonna say it again
Before you turn this down, before you let me down
So stay right here, you're what I miss the most
To pass this space between two states and a telephone

Get get up and go, we lose ourselves out on the road
Get get up and go, we won't go down together

So stay right here, you're what I miss the most

To pass this space between two states and a telephone
So stay right here, you're what I miss the most
To pass this space between two states and a telephone

We're miles from home, I guess we made it
And I hope you know, we're never gonna say it again
Before you turn this down, before you let me down

We're miles from home, I guess we made it
And I hope you know, we're never gonna say it again
Before you turn this down, before you let me down
