Can't believe
Ohh oh no no no no whoa

I'm so torn up now, can't believe I lost you Lost my best friend, my soul mate can't believe, it's true
We've invested in set of twins
Small house and the dog cried out
Knew I was suffering, he was chained to my pain

Me and you were meant to last forever
And if the walls can't hold this house together
We were born to live and die together
And now you gone and I'm so alone
Baby, come on home

You could have called me
You could have wrote, you could have tried
I rather you slit me cross the throat
So, I can die instead of leaving
No explanation as to why, you don't want me no more?

You could have called me
You could have wrote, you could tried
I rather you slit, me cross the throat
So, I can die instead of leaving
No explanation as to why, you don't want me no more?

I'm a mess right now, I can't eat can't sleep
Bills are pilin' high, ain't worked in three weeks
I ain't bathed, can't shave, 'cause my heart is so tender
Like livin' in a blender, I'm shaken and I'm stirred

You and me were meant to last forever
And if these walls can't hold this house together
We were meant to lie and die together
And now you're gone, I'm so alone
Baby come on home

You could have called me
You could have wrote, you could tried
I rather you slit me cross the throat

So, I can die instead of leaving
No explanation as to why, you don't want me no more?

You could have called me
You could have wrote, you could tried
I rather you slit me cross the throat
So, I can die instead of leaving
No explanation as to why, you don't want me no more?

Call me, write me, love me, come home
Call me, write me, love me, come home
Call me, write me, love me, come home
