How could I ever hide what I felt?
How could you ever say you never knew?
All along it was there on my mind, in my heart
It was the feeling, I was in love

You act as if you never knew my name
How could you pleasure putting me
Through so much pain
Like a child in the womb, I needed you to give me love
I missed that feeling of being loved

How could I ever love again?
How could I start to love again?
After you broke me down
It's hard to trust that feeling to fall in love again

A man don't usually fall no more than twice
And if he does you'll never know 'cause he won't say
For the fear of being fooled, taken twice by the heart
It's in his nature to be afraid

He starts to wonder if it's really right
To let his past take control of his life
Maybe I'll run into hope, someone that's right for me
And share love freely and fall in love again

How could I ever love again?
How could I start to love again?
After you broke me down
It's hard to trust that feeling to fall in love again

(Love)
You know what they say about a man
It's hard for him to fall in love
(Love)
Once hurt, he'll never give in, it's hard for him to trust

(Love)
Found out it was hard to cope
When your love broke down on me
It's hard for me to trust again

How could I ever love again?
How could I start to love again?
After you broke me down
It's hard to trust that feeling to fall in love

How could I ever love again?
How could I start to love again?
After you broke me down
It's hard to trust that feeling to fall in love again

Yeah, how can I ever love again?
How can I ever start to love, love?
