There's no reason to fight
Cause you battle the world
Every day of your life
And I've been watching you cry
For too long, for too long

There's no reason to frown
Cause I promise you soon
I will turn it around
Life's been holding you down
For too long, for too long

You've got so much reason to laugh
I've got a picture of this, should I remind you of that?
They've been holding you back
For too long, for too long

And there's so much you haven't lived
You've gotta run with a saint
Take a walk with a sin
They've been sinking your ship
For too long, for too long

You've been holding it in

There's no reason to fight
Cause you've battled the world
Every day of your life
And I've been watching you cry
For too long
