Complicated

Fireworks out of a noisy corner
The sun is shining underground
People got a mind-set of their own
Break my bones with simple conversation
Bullshit needs an alibi
Turn around and make me understand

Would you answer, would you care
To know all of this could be a little better
Got a feeling less than right
Never thought of keeping such a strange life

I don't know why
Something's always lost
I can't get it done, I'm so tired of waiting
I don't know why
Something's always lost
Everything's become so complicated

All alone, completely suffocating
Yeah my sorrow needs a man
Just so I can show him who I am
Violins are swelling with the notion
I'm not a girl who misses much
Every single thing is out of touch

Would you answer, would you care
To know all of this could be a little better
Get a feeling less than right
Never thought of keeping such a strange life

I don't know why
Something's always lost
I can't get it done, I'm so tired of waiting
I don't know why
Something's always lost
Everything's become so complicated
