

Lauren Hart

"Everything Under the Sun"

Visit "Everything Under the Sun" on MotoLyrics.com

Everything Under the Sun

All of you has got me, is this desire?
And I can barely breathe from secrets that you hide
Go on and shake me to the core
I have been there and back before
So little left in me that might go under I've never been so sure, without you, I'd be more
I have got something left to find

Everything under the sun will seem
More than forgiving, like a better cause for living
Everything under the sun will be
Mine for the making, know that I will never break so
Take up your love, take up your
Take up your love, take up your love from me

Only you can lift me, up without a sound
Only you can leave me with no way out Just like a feather to the ground, I have been slow to figure out
Somedays it feels like I may not recover
You watch me wearing thin, but no one's gone where I have been
I have got something left to find

Everything under the sun will seem
More than forgiving, like a better cause for living
Everything under the sun will be
Mine for the making, know that I will never break so
Take up your love, take up your
Take up your love, take up your love from me

Visit Lauren Hart page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.