Jackknifed,
My strife,
Take it easy,
Sit outside
I just died one thousand times yesterday

Lay down
Drown out,
Drowning in these cries and shouts
Changing so fast that it stays the same

Encryption ensconces this cryptic cliché
It's not stupid,
It's more of the same
I'm too tired to care,
We're too busy to think
So let's sit back and laugh and watch the ship sink
The hull and the bow and the smokestacks disappeared
And we watched it go down
With a streaming Bronx cheer
Thank you dear
I will sleep and get up and eat unaware

But don't forget to forget you forgot me,
When I show up at your door
I'm gonna remember that you are my friend
And fall asleep on your floor

Winter is coming,
Can you find your coat?
Let's go watch the water while the bodies still float
Slit my throat
It's more than a tad overdue
Slit my throat
I can't die in here 'til next June
I breathed it, it was smokey
I cried it, it steamed
I dreamed that I slept and I actually dreamed

What it is, is a sickness,

What it is, is regret,
And I might be dying,
But I'm not dead yet,

Don't forget to forget you forgot me,
When I show up at your door
I'm gonna remember that you are my friend
And fall asleep on your floor

I'm gonna remember that you are my friend
And fall asleep on your floor
