This one is to the one who said he's going to the sun and he will never come back home. This one is to the one by whom the spider web was spun upon the keyboard by the window. May you never be afraid of the dark. May you never be hit by a car. May you always have fun and be loved by everyone. May you never be hit by a car. This one is to the painting touching the ceiling. This one is to the sharpie on the celebrities. This one is to the streetlight. Listen to the streetlight. This one's to the four leaf clover hanging on the wallpaper-less wall covered by papers. This one is to the queen of diamonds and some flowers and my first full album.
