So it's the end of the world and who knew it? So it's the end of the world and you blew it. So were jumping off our cars and were shutting down the bars because it's time for more everything, because nobody has got time for anything at all. Well Math The Band is back and I know what the rage is. I'll be rocking out the techno in the middle ages while I'm fighting evil wizards and dragons and shit. At the king's round table is where I will sit. I ain't got no laptop, I ain't got no synth, but I gotta make music so i'll make it like this. We've got the instruments, that's where it's at, and now I'm almost done with my rap.
