Who is the one I see across the table Eyes that always seem so familiar We sit alone so comfortably in the silence
If I touch you would you be surprised Did we drift out closer to a compromise

Oh have we lost what we had inside these, inside these lines Could we watch it stay the same, all this time and just
be fine
It's okay to see where we are, where we should be But are we gonna find ourselves insides these lines, inside these lines
Inside these lines

Your skin is next to mine, I can feel you We've learned to pass the time in the same room So remind me of how the world stood still We were shining, living just to taste the thrill

Oh have we lost what we had inside these, inside these
lines
be fine

It's okay to see where we are, and where we should be
Are we gonna find ourselves inside these lines, inside
these lines

Circle render me, yeah
With the lines we've drawn I believe that Circle render me, yeah
With the lines we've drawn I believe that

Have we lost what we had inside these, inside these
lines
Could we watch it stay the same, all this time and just
be fine
Are we gonna find ourselves inside these lines, inside
these lines

Are we gonna find ourselves
Are we gonna find ourselves inside these lines, inside
these lines
