If you've got a bottle, won't you pass it to me?
If it's poisonous or dangerous
We'll drink it and see
If you've got a hot rod or an old pickup truck
We'll take it to the outskirts baby and we'll get stuck

We've got nothing better to do
We've got nothing to go home to
Tonight and for the rest of our lives

If you've got a girlfriend
Then throw her in the car
Cause tonight we're heading downtown for the disco bar

If you've got a problem
Well, you better relax because there's four of us and there's only you
Do the math

We've got nothing better to do
We've got nothing to go home to
Tonight and for the rest of our lives

If you've got a suitcase then fill it with clothes
We'll hop on the expressway bound for Old Mexico
If you've got a bank account, well empty it fast
Because in Ciudad Juarez, they only take cash

I've got the van keys in one hand and the pay phone in the other
At the Circle K on Fourth Street in Benson, Arizona

It's a one night stand with a strumpet on the corner
It's a Budweiser can-crushed-I will remember
It's a late night out with a lost friend from high school Telling stories, telling lies, telling dreams we know won't come true

One day this world will
(Spiral into chaos and spin into flames)

Spiral into chaos and spin into flames
Our faces will begin to melt along with our names
If you've got a feeling that your soul will live on Well, you might as well believe it because you'll never know if you were wrong

We've got nothing better to do
We've got nothing to go home to
We've got nothing, nothing to do today
