"Still I Run"

Come and find me at the top of the ferris wheel
Come and find me in the darkest red brothel
Come and find me when I feel like a shiny new penny
Come and find me when I'm feeling awful

Look for me on a dark corner
Look for me in a green meadow
Look for me when I am sitting beside you
And look for me when I have left you.

If you're not chasing me, why am I running,
Stumbling over it all?
You are invincible, I am invisible
Reflecting the light of the sun
Still, I run.

Look at me up on this pretty high horse
Look at me here in the gutter
Look at me over a pretty girl's shoulder
But don't look at me after you're done with her.
If you're not chasing me, why am I running
Is this the pride or the fall?
You are invincible, I am invisible
Reflecting the light of the sun
Still I run.

Come and find me at the top of the ferris wheel
Come and find me in the darkest red brothel
Come and find me when I feel like a shiny new penny
Come and find me when I'm feeling awful

If you're not chasing me, why am I running,
Is this the pride or the fall?
You are invincible, I am invisible
Is this what I have become?
Still, I run.
