We set drifting such a fact.
It seems empty, life feels abstract.
Several years with one faint sun.
This last debt that holds no line.

(Chorus)

Making our way through time and space.
Exploring all three to infinity.
Took at his back, fly all three.
Watching the stars at night, you came over time.
All the while sippin' on some bitches' tea.

In dark of night a hope would shine, for us to find when we arrive.

A radiant light, the river's kind,
can get them now, but perhaps there ain't time.

(Chorus)

Making our way through time and space.
Exploring all three to infinity.
Took at his back, fly all three.
Watching the stars at night, you came over time.
All the while..

(x3)

..sippin' on some bitches' tea.
