save me I'm fading fast please give me an exit pass so I can get off and claim this trauma's been complicated by strain through everyone of my veins I'm starting to fall apart wisdom the driving force for living without remorse so why do I feel like breaking down and starting all over again hatching out new improved plans taking a brand new approach giving up what I love most

chorus

It's times like this that I must reflect and analyze by deficit
failure my greatest fear for sale is a single tear I shed on my basement floor Next time I promise to give you much more bear my soul at its core polish the skills I have learned achieve all the goals I must earn

[chorus]

It's times like this that I must reflect and analyze my deficit
far from over are the moments when I wish that this all would just end
end
just end
