"Alive Again"

Quietly you say to me "the time has come for you to be alive again".

Or so you say and turn away, and you must wait
another day outside again.

Summer's coming and I'd like a review.

I hope the land around you yields
a crop like all the other fields,
and then your waiting might make sense.
As if the time spent on the fence,
waiting for the shoe to fall
could stop the crumbling of your walls.

Summer's coming and I'd like a review.

Quietly you say to me "the time has come for you to be
alive again".

Quietly you say to me "the time has come for you to be
alive again"

Summer's coming and I'd like a review.

The time has come for you to be alive again!
