Sorry, I said I was sorry
There seems to be a problem
You have to listen closely
I can't change the reception

I thought that there was more to this
I was wrong
But everybody else still says how well
We get along

I remember a time when
We weren't always going our own ways
When we were alone
We were never lonely
We were only apart

You asked me what was wrong
And then suddenly
Everything was wrong
But I will go along with this
To say that we get along
We get along
We get along
We get along

Sorry, I said I was sorry
There seems to be a problem
You gave me answer
To a different question

And I will wait here endlessly to respond
While everybody else still says how well we get along
We get along
We get along
We get along
