Hey there girl
I always see you dancing
Late at night
The street is dark
But I can always see
Your bedroom light

Well it seems like you don't
Have any cares in this world
Maybe I should come stop by your door

Did I tell you
Lately I've been tired
All the time
And I'm afraid that Everything I'm into's
Not your style

When it seems like nothing
Works as it should in this world maybe I can come stop by

If I called you up
What would you say?
would you call the cops
And close your shades?
And when it all feels
Like an awful haze
can you wake me up
And help me change?
Or maybe its on me
Maybe its all on me

If I saw you
Waiting on the platform
I'd pretend
You were just Another person
Who I never met

Well it seems like you don't

Have any cares in this world
How I'd love to come stop by your door

Oh maybe you can't understand my plea
You've only turned 18 last week and everyone you hang with They're so sure they've got so much ahead
Oh maybe you can't understand my voice
It's lost in all the background noise
It's crazy what a difference
Only a few years can make

If I called you up
What would you say?
would you call the cops
And close your shades?
And when it all feels
Like an awful haze
can you wake me up
And help me change?

If I called you up
What would you say?
would you call the cops
And close your shades?
And when it all feels
Like an awful haze
can you wake me up
And help me change?

Or maybe its on me
