Won't you try to come down
They all said they'd be here
You know you've been to every gathering
Stretching out the years

You haven't said anything at all
(you could be)
Just a photo on the wall
(I can see)
You can't cut, I cannot bleed
Relieved to see my dreams recede
Finally going now waving goodbye
Finally going now waving bye bye
Finally going now waving goodbye

I keep asking them why It's so much warmer this year
The people in the house across the street have moved away
Had I said that the stove needs repair?

(I can see)
You can't cut, I cannot bleed
Relieved to see my dreams recede

Finally going now waving goodbye
Finally going now waving goodbye
Finally going now waving goodbye

As if you hoped to find me paralysed in record time Clinging to life well I'm not blind
I'm not blind
I'm not blind...

Won't you try to come down
they all said they'd be here
you know you've been to every gathering stretching through the years it's the least you could do you could come down once or twice or three times a year it just seems like the least you could do the least you could do

You haven't said anything at all
You haven't said anything at all
