i need a miracle to conquer this endeavor the imagery of song to portray the routine of life maybe i'm neurotic or just wrong in general maybe i should concede and put out the fire can you feel this uproar festering desire in my thoughts?
i can promise you one thing; i will haunt you 'til you die i can promise you one thing; i will hunt you 'til you die in absence of your favor i would rather choose death i'd prefer it would be executed only by you no legacy, fall short of understanding maybe i should concede and put out the fire i want you to bleed me of my misery drained bled dry; hung up for all to see
