Why do I explain myself when everyone's an idiot but me, yeah?

I think some people need

I think some people need

Killing for stupidity and I'll be born again

Kicking and screaming and dragged back into a life

Kicking and screaming and dragged back into a life

Like ten pounds of sin in a nine pound bag

Still I come back to give you something that you never had

Idiot rules, I never fight I only win

Idiot rules, idiot rules

Idiot rules and I didn't make 'em

Idiot rules, I never bend, I only break 'em

Finish my smoke, down my drink, wipe my mouth and I just walk away

I think some people need

I think some people need

Killing for stupidity and I'll be born again

Kicking and screaming and dragged back into a life

Kicking and screaming and dragged back into a life

Like ten pounds of sin in a nine pound bag

Still I come back to give you something that you never had

Idiot rules, I never fight I only win

Idiot rules, idiot rules

Idiot rules and I didn't make 'em

Idiot rules, I never bend, I only break 'em

What's the chance of finding something real and make it last

For that I'd carry all my bags and leave them in the past

Because I spend my life fixing mistakes that left me scarred

And when I stand and meet my maker I'll be born again hard

Why do I explain myself when everyone's an idiot but me?

I think some people need

I think some people need

Killing for stupidity and I'll be born again

Idiot rules, I never fight I only win

Idiot rules, idiot rules

Idiot rules and I didn't make 'em

Idiot rules, idiot rules

Idiot rules, I never fight I only win

Idiot rules, idiot rules

Idiot rules, don't judge me by my sins

Idiot rules, I never bend, I only break 'em
