you are a beast inside of me if i could kill the beast in me and come back home again like the birds always do i'm going home where i belong i've been far for so long i'm exhausted by the distance the way you do is an offence but thanks for your sympathie no more charity

in your glance, i see me as a pet you hold the chains by now i bet listen now mister benefector cau's i don't need your charity never shout out from the cage although wild but not insane i can kill you with my brain if you already try again that's over

i don't need
charity
