promise the world to someone and you'll find the meaning of consequence.

but there's a key phrase missing from this password when i trace back words through these events.

was it me you were looking for?
or was there something you ignored? i should have dropped dead to the floor and left the room

cuz there was a picture on your desktop of a boy you said you'd left off at the airport go ahead, Text me "Goodbye!"

it's the Last time we should be together i know,
and i would be into it.
but it's the first time that i ever felt at home.

i should leave you now take my cd's from your shelf but there's gravity in everything here i don't doubt you were sincere not even your whisper in my ear gave the indication, you were something i should fear

the only problem is, that i felt it alone!

i am here alone

there's always a last kiss and there's always a first barefeet on broken glass only wet my appetite and fed my thirst i got taken deeper than i ever wanted things to go sucker punched and bullied in and i've got nothing to show but you keep me awake at night yeah you keep me awake at night and all i ever got from you was just a fight...

but maybe if you play the whole thing in reverse it just might work... it just might work, BUT
LAST TIME we will ever
Be Together
