it's cold when you're standing here out on a ledge waiting for a hand

look at how much weight we put on a kiss and what we'll do just to stand near it

are we trying too hard
or just not enough
are we resting our fate
on the traps of love
are we giving ourselves
to places we hate
just to see if there's something else written on the backs of these days

yeah

look at how long it's taken us to get here it's taken us nowhere yet it's taken us here with our backs up against the wall that could never be built if we weren't here at all , yeah

on the backs of these days something must be there

oh i just got to believe something is out there and someone will save me
