Snow falling from the sky
Looks like angels tonight
And, will take a miracle
To bring me closer to you
Every night but this one would be okay
But the fact that its Christmas makes it harder to say

We might be alone tonight
We might be alone tonight
We might be alone, but I don't want to cry tonight
So we might be on our own tonight

We could be staring out your bedroom window tonight
With cold December eyes hanging from the rooftop
Far from you and I

Any night but this one would be okay
But the fact that its Christmas makes it harder to say

We might be alone tonight
We might be alone tonight
We might be alone, but I don't wanna cry tonight
And you know it alright

You know that we've tried
Everything we could Yeah, we beat it to death and we've dragged it through the snow
And I only to sacrifice everything we've grown
And to we might be alone
And I hope you understand that it's not because I don't love you
It's only cause we have death

We might be alone tonight
We might be alone tonight
We might be alone, but I don't want to cry tonight

We might be alone tonight
We might be alone tonight

Fallen from the sky we look like angels
