when you come over
i will be okay
when you get here

you can break through my locked and shackled door just hurry up and get here

when you come over
i'll be wide awake
waiting for you to, make me

don't be too suprised
with what you see

i've had a chance to think things out more clearly
the other night that wasn't me

it will all make sense
when you walk through my door you'll see inside my head
when you come over
i will sleep again
i'll have you back in my world and all this will end

(i really think that things will be okay....)

when you last left me
i wasn't sure
of anything

under star light sidewalks i watched you walk away it shouldn't end like this....

chorus

things will be okay
just like they should everything will fall in place the moment that you kiss this face everything thing will be good

when you get here
