Walking down memory lane
just the other day although you're gone it seemed like you're there

As if this town was built of ruins of the past
So, now it's over but, Baby, what will last?

And our love's gone like the swallows as cold begins to bite I'm hiding in my hollows for another night

You didn't mean to hurt me but to our big surprise you broke my heart not only once but twice

It's so easy hey hey
to reap the grapes of wrath
It's so easy hey hey
to lose the one you love
It's so easy hey hey
when push had come to shove
It's so easy hey hey
you went astray, my love

Another broken dream turns over in its grave
I guess my memories are for sale

Your swaying back and forth it made things really worse At last it's over I wonder what will last?

Oh, I never saw before call me stupid, call me blind this tacky final score were those the windmills of your mind?

Not listening anymore
I guess I was a fool for love and I'm cursing you and him and what you've got

to lose a precious love
It's so easy hey hey
It's so easy hey hey

I've seen it happen all before something so good turned into sore No, I didn't realize
I had to face the music on the other side
