Not quite a year that we have parted and you think it would be okay to send a note in a birthday card, yeah but things ain't never gonna be that way

Our love, it was just yesterday smashed like jars of clay

Oh, the end still makes me mad and it should have never ever come to this Scars they hurt like hell and I can hardly get out of this abyss

Oh no, I think it's way too late to close the gates of fate

But out there in the night the tears I'd like to hide still falling for my love and I try to come to terms somehow although it's over now

You should have told me straight that you were not inclined to to keep faith You broke my heart so many times that its fragments turned into a wraith

Lost in space and time a love once so divine just like grains of sand got washed away We lost our paradise the dreamteam's own demise and I hope you'll understand that's Why we never can be friends again There ain't no absolution for this execution
