Today is just a day like any other day
You can't do this, you can't do that
Why don't you give it up, my son?

But I've got eyes that see, a life that's good for me
My mind explodes, it makes me grow
And it gives me something new

But he keeps saying
You need me when your life was down
You need me when your life begun
You need me when your life was down
You need me when your life begun

Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home
Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home

It seems the time is right for now
I think I will stop and turn around
I hear the phone it rings, he says, "All you do is sleep"
Ooh, he makes me shiver when I'm thinking back

But I stand tall you see
Chasing my world of dreams
My vision is clear I have no fear
Of all the things that make me happy

But he keeps saying
You need me when your life was down
You need me when your life begun
You need me when your life was down
You need me when your life begun

Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home
Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again

I'm coming home

It seems the time is right for now
I think I will stop and turn around
Well he made me, he made me

Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home
Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home

Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home
Miles and miles of pain
My heart is broken once again
I'm coming home

It seems the time is right for now
I don't have to stop after all
