You called me whenever you wanted,
the hours turned into days
You thought that I would always be there.
You thought that I would just wait
At first I thought I could be happy to always be second place

But now I know I could do much better than you.
You weren't even great.
And now you're out of sight.
and soon you're out of my mind.

Chorus

Too little and too late,
for you to change your ways
My love has gone away.
I'm in a different place
Too little and too late there's so much I can take You've got yourself to blame.
Too bad it's such a shame.

My friends were right from the beginning that you weren't worth all the pain.
And now I see it very clearly.
your selfish, childish games.
Cause soon I will forget,
it's then that you'll regret.

Repeat Chorus

At first I thought I could be happy
to always be second place
But now I know I could never be that you you are never be great

Repeat Chorus 2x

I gave you everything you wanted
But you just threw it away

So now I am moving all without you Too Bad Too Little Too Late
